

Nevada Forest Highway Long Range Transportation Plan Concurrence

The Nevada Forest Highway Long Range Transportation Plan (LRTP) is a policy plan that will be used to guide the development of the Forest Highway Program in Nevada in the future. This 20-year plan identifies long term goals for the program and ensures that future decision-making is driven by a mutually-agreed upon set of program goals and objectives. This LRTP is a living document that will be updated concurrent with statewide planning cycles or as needed. Modification of this plan will require agreement and concurrence by the Tri-party agencies.
